Mr. Dosti, who stated that he travels to Washington approximately once a month but who had not called in EE for some time, called to pay what he termed a "courtesy visit". During general conversation he made the following three points of some importance:

1. In Mr. Dosti's opinion it would be much easier for the National Committee to collaborate with the Yugoslavs than with the Greeks. The latter would inevitably tend to work for the gratification of their claims on Northern Epirus.

2. Mr. Dosti "has no objection" to King Zog coming to this country. He has no objection whatsoever to collaborating with the King if this should prove useful and desirable, always provided that the regime question may be postponed until after "liberation".

3. Mr. Dosti is willing, and feels it may become necessary, to collaborate with the EKI. For political reasons it might be necessary to do this unofficially by utilizing certain of the personalities included within EKI but without including the organization formally. He NCEA
